

What construction defects plague your association?

Our firm has represented numerous condominium and homeowner associations in construction defect litigation and recovered millions of dollars including legal fees.

Most recently, our partner David Dahan settled a construction defect lawsuit on behalf of a condominium development with over 250 units in Southern New Jersey for almost $7,000,000. Some thought the defects were not significant and had little value. They were wrong. Insulation, fire sprinklers, distorted siding, pool defects — we have done it all.

Can we help your association?
